From the Staff ...

Major Greg K. Smith
Field Operations Bureau

As we approach the Patrol's 90th Anniversary, I am reminded of the historical impact the Patrol has had on the citizens of our great state. In 1931, our country was coping with the challenges of the Great Depression, the average cost of a new house was $6,790, and a pound of ground beef cost 11 cents. A new car could be purchased for $640 and one could fill the gas tank for 10 cents per gallon. In Missouri that year, Bagnell Dam was completed forming the Lake of the Ozarks, and Governor Henry S. Caulfield signed legislation creating the Missouri State Highway Patrol.

A brief historical review of our early years showed an ever-changing organization that was rapidly growing as demands and responsibilities grew. The agency rank structure at the time included first sergeants, sergeants, and technical sergeants. The tech sergeant rank, established for specialists, was established in 1934 and ended in 1943. Prior to 1953, troop captains reported directly to the superintendent. When Colonel Hugh H. Waggoner was reappointed that year, he reorganized General Headquarters. The state was then divided into two districts with one field captain assigned to each district. The field captains served as a liaison between the superintendent and the troop commanders. Although there were some changes in agency composition and rank during the next 37 years it wasn't until 1990 that Colonel C.E. "Mel" Fisher organizationally restructured the Patrol and created the Field Operations Bureau. The new bureau encompassed the nine troops and the Aircraft Division.

Of course, the bureau's name isn't the only thing that changed throughout our history. The first troopers stopped along their route and spoke with various business owners to get messages from their troop headquarters. As technology progressed, troopers had some form of radio communication in their patrol cars beginning in the late 1930s and rapidly progressing in the mid-1940s. Today, with the development of the Missouri Statewide Interoperability Network (MOSWIN), troop staff and gaming officers can use the Wave app on an iPhone to transmit and speak to any troop radio room in the state.

Although exponential change continues to drastically shape the landscape of how troopers perform their duties, one critical aspect remains a constant since 1931. Whether from a traffic stop, following a tragic event, the changing of a flat tire, or offering assistance in their greatest time of need, it's the professional but personal contact with citizens that remains the hallmark of the Missouri State Highway Patrol.

This year, as we mark 90 years of service and protection, we recognize those who built the solid reputation we enjoy today and work hard to retain it. We remember the sacrifices of 31 brave troopers who have died since 1931. We remain committed to setting the standard regarding integrity, responsibility, respect, professionalism, compassion, resourcefulness, character, and commitment for law enforcement agencies in Missouri and the nation.

Happy 90th anniversary, Missouri State Highway Patrol!

The MASTERS President (and retired Patrol Colonel) James Keathley presented the 2020 MASTERS Public Service Award to Sgt. Andy Bell (A). "I was thrilled to be the Troop A nominee," said Sgt. Bell. "Upon learning I received the award for the entire state, I was very surprised and humbled. I know many others that serve their communities daily, regardless of being on duty or off duty. I am honored to be recognized along with all the other award recipients."

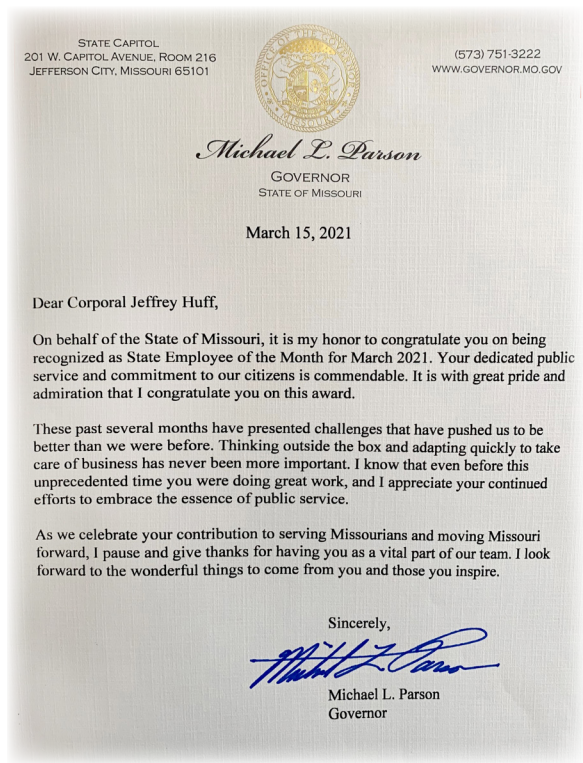

CPL. HUFF NAMED STATE EMPLOYEE OF THE MONTH

Colonel Eric T. Olson, superintendent of the Patrol, and Department of Public Safety Deputy Director Kevin Bond recognized Corporal Jeff Huff (A) as the March 2021 State Employee of the Month. They congratulated Cpl. Huff and presented the award on behalf of Governor Mike Parson. The recognition came as a result of Cpl. Huff's actions during a traffic stop in 2020. When he learned the teen driver was suicidal, Cpl. Huff empathetically intervened and saved the teen's life.

"This is exactly the type of pro law enforcement effort that we make that sustains us and will carry us into the future," said Col. Olson.

Congratulations, Cpl. Huff!

(r) Col. Eric Olson (Q) congratulated Cpl. Jeff Huff (A) for being named State Employee of the Month for March 2021.

T-Rex Takes The Plunge For SOMO

By Cpl. Justin S. Dunn (B)

On March 6, 2021, Troop B employees formed the Troopersaurus Rex team, which welcomed spouses and local law enforcement, to take the plunge for Special Olympics Missouri. The Troop B team joined teams from other law enforcement agencies and local supporters to help raise funds for SOMO. Once again, the SOMO Polar Plunge took place at Thousand Hills State Park in Kirksville, MO. It was another successful year and much fun was had.

THAT ICE WASN'T KEEPING ANYTHING COLD

By Cpl. Kyle A. Green (F)

On the evening of March 6, 2021, Corporal Zachary A. Czerniewski (F) was observing traffic from the median on Interstate 70 at the 93-mile marker in Cooper County. As he was watching traffic, an eastbound Jeep Cherokee drew his attention as it traveled past his location. Cpl. Czerniewski pulled out into traffic and as he followed the Jeep, he saw it commit several lane violations and fail to use its turn signal. Cpl. Czerniewski activated his emergency equipment and the Jeep stopped on the shoulder.

Cpl. Czerniewski approached the Jeep on the passenger side and informed the driver, who was the sole occupant, why he was being stopped. The driver responded, "Yeah, I'm a little bit sleepy."

As the driver searched for his driver license and rental agreement, Cpl. Czerniewski observed indicators of criminal activity. The driver provided a California driver license and said the rental agreement was on his phone.

The driver advised he rented the car for one week and was going to St. Louis, MO, from Ontario, CA. While the driver attempted to locate the rental agreement on his phone, Cpl. Czerniewski engaged him in conversation. Cpl. Czerniewski's training and experience led him to believe the driver was engaged in criminal activity. He requested consent to search the Jeep, which was initially granted and then denied.

Cooper County Deputy Aaron Schanzmeyer then arrived on scene with K-9 Grimm. Deputy Schanzmeyer and K-9 Grimm conducted a free air sniff of the exterior of the Jeep, resulting in K-9 Grimm positively alerting to the odor of narcotics emitting from the interior of the Jeep. A probable cause search of the Jeep revealed a plastic bag containing a white crystalline substance Cpl. Czerniewski immediately recognized it as methamphetamine. The driver was placed in handcuffs and told he was under arrest. A continued search of the Jeep revealed a total of 35 bags of methamphetamine totaling 75 pounds.

The driver was transported to the Cooper County Jail, where he was charged with drug trafficking-first degree. The approximate street value of the methamphetamine is $1.8 million. Cpl. Czerniewski's diligence and skill in looking beyond the stop resulted in a large seizure and potentially saved lives.

Area Students Experience Alliance Program

By Cpl. Justin S. Dunn (B)

On Saturday, March 13, 2021, 15 Troop B area high school students representing 12 high schools completed the troop's 2021 Student Alliance Program. The program was conducted at the Troop B Headquarters in Macon, MO, on Saturday, March 6, 2021, and Saturday, March 13, 2021. During the two-day program, students were familiarized with many duties performed by a Missouri state trooper, and participated in hands-on activities such as firing a Glock pistol, stop and approach, and crime scene investigations. The students observed a canine demonstration and heard presentations from several members and civilian employees of the Patrol. The program, which targeted juniors and seniors in high school, provided an opportunity for interested individuals to learn more about law enforcement and the Missouri State Highway Patrol. Each participant was presented a certificate of completion and a Missouri State Highway Patrol T-shirt.

Students who attended the program included: Dalton Oldham and Jacob Nelson of Macon, MO; Carter Hummel, of Center, MO; Kinsey Wilhoit, of Keytesville, MO; Caleb Gibler, of Madison, MO; Hayden Long and Alex Long, of Memphis, MO; Will Harmon, of La Grange, MO; Cameron Hampton, of Hannibal, MO; Michela Ham, of Linneus, MO; Wilson Matheis, of Jacksonville, MO; Jarrett Hubble and Cameron Bringer, of Lewistown, MO; Chris Moore, of Ewing, MO; and Tyler Polley of Brookfield, MO.

This group of high school students came together for the Troop B Student Alliance Program.

Cpl. Graydon Gaines (B) explained DWI enforcement to students in the alliance program.

This student experienced stop and approach under the watchful eye of Tpr. Chad Walton (B).

Welker, Jenkins Prove Resourceful In Solving Case

By Cpl. Dallas R. Thompson (C)

Trooper Kurtis T. Welker (C) and Sergeant Tyler R. Jenkins (C) accepted the April 2021 DPS Sworn Employees of the Month award for their tireless and thorough investigative work that led to charges against two people in a murder case. An award ceremony took place on April 13, 2021, at Troop C Headquarters.

On August 30, 2020, Tpr. Welker responded to a reported roadside assault on Interstate 64 in St. Charles County. The suspect had fled in a pick-up pulling a car hauler trailer, images of which were captured on a vehicle's dash camera. At the scene, Tpr. Welker found an unconscious 68-year-old man in grave condition with trauma to his face. The victim died at a hospital.

Tpr. Welker, Sgt. Jenkins, and investigators assigned to the Division of Drug and Crime Control initially had few leads beyond the dash cam video. Sgt. Jenkins took the initiative and asked a popular, local Facebook page to post the video of the truck driving away. The post quickly resulted in numerous leads. Over several weeks Tpr. Welker, Sgt. Jenkins, and DDCC investigators followed leads, conducted multiple witness interviews, reviewed surveillance video captured by local businesses, and obtained cell phone records. They then obtained and executed search warrants at several locations.

Eventually, video and photographic evidence seized through the warrants led to the arrest of a husband and wife. The man was charged with murder in the second degree and his wife was charged with being an accessory to second-degree murder. Without Tpr. Welker's and Sgt. Jenkins' tireless work ethic, this case may not have been solved.

Colonel Eric T. Olson spoke to the two award recipients and presented challenge coins to them. He thanked them first for conducting such a thorough investigation. He then highlighted the core value of resourcefulness and how they utilized it during the investigation of this case. Using technology such as social media and dash camera videos helped bring this case to a close.

DPS Director Sandra K. Karsten also spoke with the two award recipients. "We really appreciate what you did and how you did it," Director Karsten said. "That is what people have come to expect from the Highway Patrol across this state ... to come together and work as a team. You both exemplified that here."

Congratulations Tpr. Welker and Sgt. Jenkins!

All In A Day's Work ...

By Sgt. Andrew J. Bell (A)

On a warm, sunny, Monday morning, April 5, 2021, Corporal Beau M. Ryun (A) was patrolling eastbound Interstate 70 at the 79-mile marker, in Saline County, MO, when a white 2011 Volkswagen Jetta, displaying California registration, caught his eye. Cpl. Ryun observed the driver commit a traffic violation and effected a traffic stop. While obtaining information from the driver and two other occupants, Cpl. Ryun detected a strong odor of raw and burnt marijuana emitting from the vehicle.

Using his superior observation skills, Cpl. Ryun noticed a plastic bag of marijuana and a partially smoked marijuana cigar within the vehicle. Not only has probable cause been established through his observations, it was readily apparent the occupants were being deceptive about their travel itinerary. It was clear the occupant's day was not going well. But, just as things couldn't get worse for them ... they did.

Corporal Nick A. Perez (A) arrived to assist, and as he detained the rear seat occupant, a loaded handgun was located. Subsequently, all three occupants were detained. Cpl. Ryun's search of the vehicle revealed four cardboard boxes in the trunk containing 88.7 pounds of methamphetamine and $5,505 in U.S. currency.

Additional Troop A troopers and investigators with the Division of Drug and Crime Control assisted Cpl. Ryun with transportation, processing, and interviews of each suspect. The Saline County Prosecuting Attorney's Office charged the suspects with first degree drug trafficking, possession of up to 11-34 grams of marijuana, unlawful possession of drug paraphernalia, and unlawful use of a weapon. This arrest is a great example of looking beyond the initial reason for the stop and working as a team and should remind us all: There is no such thing as a "routine" traffic stop!

BLUE BLOODS TAKE SECOND IN TOURNEY

The Missouri State Highway Patrol and legislative partners, Mr. Ryan G. Gill (chief of staff for Senator Jason Bean), Representative Ron Copeland (retired MSHP), Mr. Elijah Mayfield (Governor's Office), and Mr. Adam Gresham (chief of staff for Lieutenant Governor Mike Kehoe) were fortunate to play in the 2021 Annual Legislative Charity Softball Tourney for a great cause! The "Blue Bloods" experienced success, taking second place, having fun, and, most importantly, raising money for charity. This year's charity tournament raised over $10k for the Samaritan Center in Jefferson City, MO!

TRAFFIC CRASH INVESTIGATION LEADS TO CRIMINAL CHARGES

By Cpl. Dallas R. Thompson (C)

Trooper Thomas Reents (C), Sergeant Paul J. Kempke (Q/FOB), Corporal Dustin B. Reed (Q/DDCC), and Corporal Jason A. Ashby (Q/DDCC) accepted the DPS March 2021 Sworn Employees of the Month for their thorough investigative work on what appeared to be a typical fatal traffic crash, but led to charges being filed in a criminal death case. The award ceremony took place on April 13, 2021, at Troop C Headquarters.

On August 23, 2020, Tpr. Reents responded to a traffic crash on the Discovery Bridge in St. Louis County. A motorcycle struck the median wall and the driver was ejected into the river. Tpr. Reents noticed two fresh skid marks traveling parallel with the motorcycle's skid marks and determined a second vehicle was involved, but had left the scene. This led to his requesting the Major Crash Investigation Team respond to assist with the investigation.

Sgt. Kempke, a member of Major Crash Investigation Team #2 in Wentzville, MO, responded. An investigation of the physical evidence led Sgt. Kempke to determine a motor vehicle intentionally struck the motorcycle. Cpls. Reed and Ashby then responded to the scene. Their investigation resulted in criminal charges being filed.

From start to conclusion, this was a strong example of thoroughness and training put into action. Tpr. Reents recognized this incident was more than a traffic crash and took action. Sgt. Kempke applied his technical crash investigation expertise. Cpls. Reed and Ashby diligently put their investigative skills to work. Because of their combined efforts, what could have been mistakenly classified as a fatal traffic crash investigation resulted in charges being filed in a criminal death investigation.

During the award ceremony, Colonel Eric T. Olson (Q) praised the award recipients. "As an agency, one thing we ought to be able to do and get right every time, is a traffic crash investigation; however, they aren't all that simple," said Col. Olson. "So, I appreciate the extra look this one got." The colonel presented a challenge coin to each award recipient. He then highlighted the core values of commitment and professionalism, saying that these troopers showed both during this investigation.

DPS Director Sandra K. Karsten also spoke to the award recipients and praised them for their excellent work. "This is an excellent example of teamwork," said Director Karsten. "The road troopers, DDCC, and Major Crash Investigation Team worked together and went above and beyond what is normally expected. I appreciate you doing the extra work to bring this case to light and to give a voice to the victim who couldn't speak himself."

Congratulations, Tpr. Reents, Sgt. Kempke, Cpl. Reed, and Cpl. Ashby!

BRAVO!

Facebook Live Provides Audience For Awards Banquet

By Public Info. Spec. III Cheryl D. Cobb (Q/PIED)

"We are about to honor two years of achievement and sacrifice by members of our team," said Colonel Eric T. Olson, superintendent of the Patrol, in his opening remarks at the Patrol awards ceremony April 10, 2021. "You'll see on duty and off duty lifesaving measures and dangerous water rescues that are very perilous. You're going to see a career's worth of dedication arresting drunk drivers. You'll hear about criminal investigations that went far beyond the original call."

In some ways, the presenting of awards was much like in past years. The Heroes video recognizing our fallen officers remained part of the program. Honorees attended, The MAS-TERS' Board of Directors was present, the Pledge of Allegiance was recited, and emcee Major Sarah L. Eberhard (Q/CIB) shared the stories of bravery, honor, kindness, and resourcefulness. However, instead of a large room full of well-wishers, the event was broadcast via Facebook live and attendees were socially distanced and used face masks in the large banquet room of Margaritaville Resort at the Lake of the Ozarks. Family members watched from hotel rooms, a special room designated for them across the hall from the event, or at home. But, everyone cheered for the heroes of 2019 and 2020.

The room was quieter than in the past, making it easy to hear the emcee. You could also hear the quiet hum of the air conditioner in the background. The award recipients clapped for one another as each one accepted an award from Col. Olson. Each recipient accepted their award with grace and humility.

"Accepting the Superintendent's Award for Excellence in Public Service at the 2021 awards ceremony was a highlight of my nearly 20-year career with the Patrol," said MVI Analyst Brenda J. Davis (Q/DVSD). "It was inspiring to hear the stories behind each of the various awards. The ceremony served as a reminder of the dedication so many Patrol employees have for the organization, their communities, and other people. I am very proud to be a part of the Patrol family. When dealing with the public, I want those I serve to walk away with a positive impression of Missouri state employees. I greatly appreciate the recognition of my efforts."

"I've never gone through anything like the awards ceremony before," said Corporal Jason C. Kuessner (Q/DDCC), 2019 Valor Award recipient. "It was overwhelming the kind of thought and preparation the Patrol went through to honor its employees. It was very humbling."

"I would like to thank everyone who has helped the Digital Forensic Investigative Unit throughout 2020," said Sergeant Jeremy L. Weadon (Q/DDCC), 2020 Officer of the Year. "Our part-time investigators in each troop do a fantastic job juggling their

Col. Eric Olson presented the 2020 Matilda "Tillie" Sonnen Civilian of the Year Award to Temporary Bldg. & Grnds. Maint. Linda Benyo (G). "It was very rewarding," said Mrs. Benyo. "I am 76 years old and have had several jobs since I was 13, but never as appreciated as I am here at the MSHP. The employees at Troop G are great, especially Captain [Bruce D.] Fiske. They are my second family. God has blessed me with good health, for which I am very thankful. I don't have a high position, but my Daddy always said, 'Whatever you do, do your best.' My family was very proud and so am I."

responsibilities to ensure each case is investigated thoroughly. As we work across the state, it's refreshing to see everyone involved come together as a team, building the best case possible to guarantee the safety of Missouri's most vulnerable population, its children."

"I was honored and humbled to receive such a prestigious award," said Comm. Oper. III Abigail L. Howard (H), 2019 Lifesaving Award recipient.

Each year, the awards presentation is an opportunity for the agency to honor its employees. In his comments, Col. Olson also told how he had recently been asked by a family member how he continued in law enforcement in the current climate of criticism. He responded that he could sleep at night because he knows the quality of people he works with. "I know what the team is capable of and what they do every day," said Col. Olson. "I rest assured that each day I'm going to get to work with all of you and we will persevere."

How DID They Do That?

By Public Info. Spec. III Cheryl D. Cobb (Q/PIED)

Our employees are truly the face of our agency. What is more recognizable than the emblem on our uniforms or polo shirts? Not much. What about that which is not easily seen? For every event hosted by the Patrol—a recruit graduation, an awards ceremony, a Leadership in Police Organizations course, a Youth Academy, the State Fair detail—there are employees quietly planning, organizing, and making sure there is a successful conclusion to said plan.

For the awards ceremony, staff designated principal assistants worked closely with Mrs. Sarah Weadon, executive director of the MASTERS, for a year to plan the event. The various components sent in nominations, and the Patrol awards committee determined award recipients. Public Information and Education Division employees then handled the Facebook live preparations and created awards, certificates, a program, and speaker's notes. Employees arrived early for the event to make sure the room was set up, awards displayed, and the necessary technology in place. Chairs in the room were placed six feet apart with programs on the seats and name tags affixed to the back, so the recipients would sit and thus walk to the stage, in the correct order. During the event, our photographer was taking pictures and our multimedia unit operated video cameras while our social media specialist oversaw the FB live.

So, high fives to all the employees whose work isn't always seen. The Academy kitchen, clerical employees throughout the agency, building and grounds maintenance, automotive technicians, and a slew of others ... To all those who work hard behind the scenes: Thank You!

Looking Back ... in the Patrol News

50 years ago

May 1971 — Driver Examiner Fount Foushee (A) was preparing to give a driving test to a middle-aged lady at the Grandview Driver Examination Station when she made an unusual request. She asked him if he would remove his uniform while giving the test. DE Foushee explained to her that it would be impossible to do this as he did not have anything else to wear. She remarked that this would not frighten her nearly as much as the uniform did.

40 years ago

June 1981 — Beginning June 1, training for computer terminal personnel moved to the troop level. The chief operator at each troop assigned a person or persons to train computer terminal personnel within their area. This change was necessary due to the increasing number of departments joining the MULES system. In addition to getting important training to new operators, this change promoted relationships between Patrol communications personnel and their counterparts from other agencies.

30 years ago

May 1991 — The first Patrol awards banquet took place. One story told about a report of a “possible deceased subject lying along the shoulder of Interstate 55.” Corporal Tom E. Burger, Trooper George A. Hayden, and Trooper Kevin W. Steele responded. The man, thought to be in his 30s, was found face down and unable to speak. An ambulance was called and he was transported to the hospital. A hospital identification bracelet found in his pocket indicated the man had been released two days prior after being hospitalized for an alcohol-related illness. Communications Vehicles Enhance Response

By Asst. Chief Oper. Todd M. Cooper (D)

For several years, the Troop D SWAT team did not have a dedicated vehicle equipped to manage radio communications during callouts or other events. In early 2018, Lt. Brad S. Bearden (D), Chief Tech. James S. Adkins (Q/CommD), Comm. Oper. III Gerald D. Leigh (D), and Asst. Chief Oper. Todd M. Cooper (D) began to discuss what operational capabilities a SWAT vehicle would need to better serve the needs of the team. Troop D's team eventually obtained a Ford Explorer from Fleet and Facilities. The Explorer offers several advantages. It is smaller than the cargo truck SWAT had used previously, has all-wheel drive, and is inconspicuous enough not to draw a lot of attention during a response.

The front seat operating position is configured like a Patrol car with a Motorola APX-7000 MOSWIN radio and a Kenwood NX-5700 radio for VHF low band and VHF high band communications. The Kenwood radios can be programmed to almost any public safety frequency or talk group, digital or analog, thus providing excellent radio interoperability. The MOSWIN radios provide radio communications within the Patrol and on local, regional, and statewide interoperability channels.

The rear seat operating position has the same radio configuration with the addition of a second Motorola MOSWIN radio. Interoperability is further enhanced by an onboard ACU-1000 system, which provides an interface between several disparate radio systems, making joint operations much easier. The position is equipped with a laptop docking station for network connectivity. This provides the SWAT communications team with the ability to run CAD, MULES/NCIC, and other critical programs and connect to other information sources while deployed. The vehicle carries two portable tactical repeaters and a 20-foot radio mast which can be mounted on the vehicle's trailer hitch. Both systems are designed to increase the range of radio communications on site.

This project started as an idea to help the Troop D SWAT team and grew into something much bigger. After the Troop D vehicle was completed, Chief Adkins and Comm. Oper. III Leigh brought it to GHQ to demonstrate its capabilities to the other SWAT team leaders. It was a hit! As a result, they built duplicate vehicles for the Troop A and Troop F teams and trained their SWAT operators on the equipment. These communications vehicles provide the tools needed for reliable communications during SWAT callouts, training, and other emergency events. They could also be deployed to remote locations during emergency events, such as natural disasters or search and rescue operations. If more robust communications equipment is needed, the easily deployable SWAT communications vehicles can provide support while other specialty vehicles are still traveling to the impacted area.

Through the dedicated efforts of the Troop D team and other key Patrol personnel, the three new SWAT communication vehicles will serve SWAT teams for many years to come.

“It appears to me that the vastness and complexity of today’s traffic accident [crash] problems apparently have not been borne home to enough people. All too often, a traffic death or injury occurs in a family before there is a full realization of the seriousness of the situation. I think that perhaps it boils down to a matter of attitude. The public has not yet reached the age of reason in driving. They have too much gambling instinct to put caution before personal convenience.”

— Colonel E.I. “Mike” Hockaday, in his “Traffic Safety--A Matter Of Public Attitude” speech to Missouri
Peace Officer Association on February 20, 1967.
